CIM: WHO NEEDS IT?

- 268,000 Manufacturing Plants in the U.S. (SIC Codes 20-39)
- 230,000 Have Less than 100 employees
- 75% Are Job Shop Manufacturers
- 15,000 Have More than 200 Employees
- 10,000 MRP Systems Installed

©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

THE HUMAN ELEMENT

- Introducing People to a New System Is a Lengthy Process, Requires Patience - the U.S. Worker Views Technology As an Adversary
- Incremental Changes, Evolution Required, not Sudden Technological Revolution
- Japanese Advantage Is Their Culture and Painstaking Attention to Detail

©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

U.S. VERSUS JAPAN

- Japanese Orientation Is for Process Improvement, Long-term Production Evolution
- U.S. View Has Been, "We're Behind, Technology Can Provide a Quick Fix, Go for It."
- Japanese Approach Tightens the Bond/Blurs the Distinction between Management and Workers; U.S. Approach Widens the Gap

©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

TECHNOLOGY IS MIXED BLESSING

- Technological Change Has Instant But Short-term Impact
- Great Benefits Can Be Obtained, but Systems Are often Complex and Difficult to Use
- Automating a Poor Shop Floor Layout with Inefficient Product Designs and Poor Production Planning Is Not Progress

©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

MISDIRECTED?

- GM's Buick City Has Emphasis on Technology/Hardware ($300M): 30% Reduction in Manufacturing Costs and Substantial Problems
- GM/Toyota Milpitas Plant Has Emphasis on People, Procedures and Production Process Plus Limited/Old Technology: 70% Reduction in Manufacturing Costs and Few Problems

CIM COMPONENTS, 1985-1990

SEGMENT	SALES ($ Billions) 1985	1990
CAD/CAM/CAE	$3.2	$11.1
MRP II	$1.9	$5.1
Process Control	$1.1	$2.3
FMS/FMC	$0.4	$1.8
Robotics	$0.5	$1.3
LAN/Networks	$0.1	$0.7
Totals	$7.2 B	$22.3 B

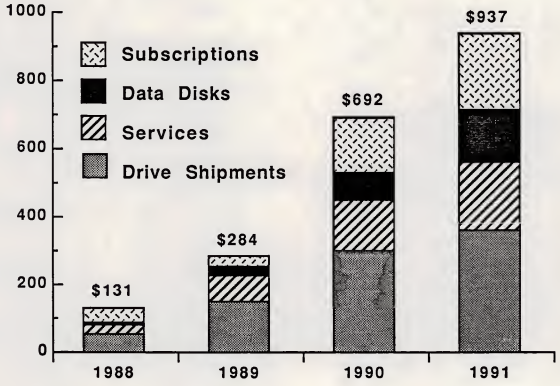
©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

CIM SUMMARY

- The Tools Are Secondary to the Process and to the Human Equation
- The Tools Can Wait, the Process Integration Can't
- Automation (e.g. Robotics) Has Well-defined Role
- Waiting for the Perfect Solution Is a Recipe for Losing Market Share

©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

CD ROM MARKETS, 1986-1991



©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

CD ROM: "VIDEOTEXT" OR "PC" MARKET?

"Videotex-like"

- War among Vendors for Standards
- A "Revolution" Still Waiting to Happen

OR

"PC-like"

- Personalization of Storage
- Software-driven
- Explosion of Dealers, Vendors, and Products

©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

NET IMPACT OF CD ROM ON INFORMATION SERVICES

SERVICE DELIVERY MODE	NET IMPACT ($ M)
	1986	1991
Processing/Network Services	*	$425
Software Products	*	610
Turnkey Systems	*	800
Professional Services	*	265
Total	(Small)	$2100

©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

ADOPTION OF CD ROM HINDERED

- Limited Marketing Strength of CD ROM Vendors, Absence of IBM
- User Inertia
- Limited Software Availability
- Extensive Hand-holding Needed

©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

CONCLUSION

©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

CONCLUSIONS

- Slowdown Temporary
- Greater User Sophistication

©1986 by INPUT. Reproduction Prohibited.

- Rate of Change Is Accelerating
  - Products
  - Technology
  - Market Strategy
  - Vendor Complexion
